AT THE BURR banquet it is expected there will be present, besides editors and ex-editors of this paper, representatives from the faculty, the various teams and the Quarterly and Epitome. It is our intention to make the affair commemorative not only of THE BURR's progress, but of the University's as well, for the interests of college and paper are one. We repeat our previous invitation and hope we shall meet with such success that the custom, as elsewhere, may become an annual one.

IN the last issue we urged upon the '93 Epitome editors the necessity for an early appearance of the book. Since that time the Epitome of '92 has appeared, later than any previous volume. This is an example '93 must not follow, but at the same time, though the annual is late, that is no reason why it should not be bought, and we want to impress upon every one that it is their duty as college men to buy at least one copy of the college annual. The editors have devoted time and money to its publication and deserve some recompense for their labor. The book is worth the price, so no one need consider it a deed of charity to buy one.

THIS spring has been marked by athletic reverses. The lacrosse team failed to hold the intercollegiate championship and the nine made a poor showing in the games for the state championship in base-ball. After beginning well, the nine went to pieces and game after game was lost, until it seemed as if the men had forgotten how to play winning ball. The Cornell game and the final victory over Lafayette have put a thin coating of sugar over what otherwise is a bitter pill to swallow—the base-ball record. It is true the nine met many strong teams and at times put up a brilliant game, but they never attained the steadiness of play needful for victory, while stupid errors, combined with hard luck, lost several games.

Captain Throckmorton worked hard to develop the players, but he was handicapped by the unwillingness of several to subject themselves to strict training. Aside from a poverty of material, the defeats were due to lax training and the record points its own moral.

THERE is yet another call to be made upon the college purse, and it is a call worthy not only of consideration, but of generous response. It will be remembered that the musical organizations of the University have not had a financially successful season; and that this was largely due to the failure of the college men to support the clubs at their home concert. We will not dwell upon this disgraceful lack of college spirit; it has been touched upon in these columns before. But we wish to say that as a result of the small audience which greeted the musical clubs in Allentown, and almost a repetition of the discouragement at the home concert, the management has not been able to clear expenses, and the clubs are actually in debt. After months of hard work and faithful practice, and after the acknowledged excellence of the music, it is a bitter harvest for the musicians to reap. Had the students turned out as they should to greet their musical organizations there would have been a comfortable surplus. As it is, there is a deficit, and we look to the college men to meet it. If each man pays a quarter to one of the committee appointed to receive subscriptions the management will be enabled to straighten accounts. We trust the men will come up with the true spirit (also the quarter), and assure them that the money could not be better invested.

THE early disbanding of the lacrosse team, an unexpected event of a fortnight ago, was the logical outcome of the last game played and in the interest of the sport here. The team, as a whole, had become thoroughly demoralized by the defeat at Baltimore, and in a few cases there were symptoms of overtraining. Practice, though frequent and conscientious, had not developed the material as well as had been expected and there were a few positions it seemed impossible to suitably fill. The college was taking no interest in the games with athletic clubs and a slim attendance could only be expected for the future. Owing to previous and necessary trips, the manager was deeply in debt and did not think himself justified in incurring the risk of increasing his obligations. So he wisely decided to cancel all remaining games.

The season closed inauspiciously and we are not able to repeat the congratulations of last year; but we wish to thank the team for their faithful work in practice, comparable in thoroughness to foot-ball practice, the proofs of which should be manifest in improved play hereafter. We are glad that most of the players will have the opportunity they so ardently long for, of retrieving present defeats by future victories.

THE old custom of the Freshmen furnishing beer to the college at Cremation seems to be fast dying out. Last year, in '93, after a hard fight the plan was defeated, and this year '94, by a large majority, has decided the question in the negative, and, reasoning inductively, it is quite probable that in a few years the matter will simply go by default. As to the right and wrong of the case, we will express no opinion; it is not our purpose to support either side, but from the fact that the Freshmen decided to furnish a band for the Sophomores on Cremation night it would seem that they have conceived a mistaken idea of the purpose of the beer treat of the past; it was never intended, as we understand it, as a part of the Cremation exercises, but merely as the Freshman contribution to the festivities of Commencement week. Every other class does its part; the Seniors have their Class Day exercises, the Juniors their Hop and the Sophomores their Cremation, while, taking away the furnishing of the beer, the Freshmen do nothing.

Inasmuch, then, as the custom seems to have died a natural death, we would suggest that the lowest class devise some new means of celebrating the close of the year. It is fitting that they do something; if they are unwilling to follow the established precedent, let them find something to take its place.

THE GOSSIP.

WHY is it that the possessions of others always seem so much better than our own? Luck always appears to favor our neighbor a little more than it does us. In base-ball our opponents, in semblance, have no trouble in getting men on bases and scoring runs with two out, while a Lehigh player may stay on third until the side is retired in one, two, three order. This prevailing dissatisfaction at our condition, and admiration of our neighbor's state, was brought forcibly to The Gossip's mind by reading the extract from The Lafayette, posted on the bulletin board, in which complaint was made of listless cheering, the blame for which was ascribed to the poor character of the college yell. Now, ever since The Gossip can remember, the Lafayette yell and the heartiness with which it was given have been held up as models to Lehigh men. In the old days, when the football games were close and exciting, that yell heard on the Lafayette field has sent many a tremor through the Lehigh supporters.

Lafayette must stop holding Lehigh up as model, or else The Gossip will not be able to use the Easton men as examples for Bethlehem to copy. In the matter of cheering, there is not a college paper in the country that does not scold its readers for lack of spirit in this respect, and there is no doubt that in both the rival colleges much room for improvement exists in the giving of the yell.

The disbanding of the lacrosse team was the source of much disappointment in New York. A party of nearly a hundred had been formed to accompany the Staten Island twelve to Bethlehem on Saturday, May 23. With this out-of-town reinforcement, the gate receipts would surely have equaled the guarantee, and therefore The Gossip is sorry that Mr. Eavenson did not learn of the projected party in time to rearrange the game. He hopes that next year the Staten Islanders will forget their present disappointment and come with their team to see a pretty town and a fine game of lacrosse.

The Gossip has unbounded respect for Buck's ability, both as a gardener and a watchful guardian of the peace. He loves to feast his eyes, as do all who see the campus, on the results of Buck's labors in the horticultural line; he chuckles with glee to see the small boy escape, terrified, from Buck's clutches. But, if The Gossip may be so presumptuous as to criticise any action of this faithful man, he would draw attention for a moment to the exhibition of landscape gardening which commemorates the departing class. To The Gossip's mind, the old flower bed in front of the Chapel was a much more attractive place for this than the lawn where it has now been laid out for two years. He fears that Buck's enthusiasm will carry him to extremes in beautifying the Park and returns every year in trembling lest the terrace has, during the summer months, been adorned by a floral exposition of the college cheer.

THE QUARTERLY.

THE third issue of The Quarterly contains a variety of articles to suit every taste. Its frontispiece contains the portraits of the founders of The Epitome, to accompany a short sketch of the evolution of that publication. Of especial interest is "The Early Drama at Lehigh," by C. B. Davis, of Lehigh tennis fame, and "Student Life in Hungary," by Andrew Pintér, '93, though the latter criticises very harshly American customs he cannot appreciate. "Reading and Indexing," by Professor Baker, of the University of Illinois, gives some very good suggestions, especially to coming graduates.

Three Seniors contribute thus: "Chess," by D. A. Usina; "Nitroglycerine and Explosives Containing It," by Alban Eavenson, and "The Telephone," by J. Z. Miller. "Waifs and Strays" will be appreciated by the members of '91 as embodying their own thoughts.

ORDINATION SERVICE.

ON Saturday morning, May 23d, at the Church of the Nativity, South Bethlehem, the Rev. Professor Elwood Worcester, Ph.D., Chaplain of the University, and the Rev. Harvey Sheafe Fisher, B.A., '87, Assistant Minister of the Church of the Nativity, were advanced to priests' orders by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Rulison, of the Diocese of Central Pennsylvania. Dr. Worcester was presented by the Rev. Dr. Reese F. Alsop, Rector of St. Ann's Church, Brooklyn, where he was assistant minister before coming here, and Mr.

Fisher, by the Rev. C. K. Nelson, Rector of the Church of the Nativity.

The Rev. George C. Foley, of Williamsport, preached the ordination sermon, a most practical discourse on the text, "As my father hath sent me, even so send I you." The music, of a nature appropriate to the occasion, was well rendered by the choir of the church.

At this service, Mr. William Wirt Mills, ex-'87, formerly of the BURR Board, was admitted to the diaconate. Mr. Fisher was also once an editor of THE BURR.

THE CHEMICAL SOCIETY BANQUET.

ABOUT thirty men gathered around the festive board at 8.30 P. M., Wednesday evening. The menu consisted of excellent clam chowder, served in historic evaporating dishes, good rye bread and punch, beer, etc. Flowers were placed in laboratory jars and fine old Virginia sun-dried tobacco was smoked in four-foot pipes. Happy responses to the toasts were made by: Dr. Chandler, "The Chemical Society;" Mr. Houskeeper, "The Physical Department;" Mr. Landis, "The Class of '90;" Mr. Sohon, "Recent Discoveries in Chemistry;" Mr. McIlvaine, "The Class of '85;" Mr. Emery, "Bradford County;" Mr. Case, "The Class of '92;" Mr. Semple, "Chemists of '92;" Mr. Chamberlain, "Chemists of '93." Then there was a speech by "Henry," followed by impromptu toasts and songs galore, until after much jollity the meeting adjourned "till next time."

THE STATE INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORTS.

THE sixth annual field meeting of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of Pennsylvania was held in the afternoon of Saturday, May 23, on the athletic grounds of the University of Pennsylvania. The grand stand and bleachers were filled with enthusiastic supporters of the teams, and many fair ones flaunted the colors of their favorite college. The programs were very neat and deserve mention, being illustrated with very fine photographic reproductions of representative athletes from five of the colleges of the state. F. R. Coates, '90, in walking costume, represented Lehigh. The exercises of the afternoon were interrupted for a time about five o'clock by a heavy shower. The track was left in an unfit condition for making good time.

Swarthmore took a prize in nearly every event, and won the cup with a record of fifty-eight points out of a possible one hundred and nineteen. Pennsylvania came next with fifty-four points, then Dickinson with nine, Lafayette with five, and finally Lehigh with but three points. Our points were made by F. R. Coates, '90, who took second in the mile walk, and G. M. Curtis, who got third prize in the mile run.

LEHIGH, 2; LAFAYETTE, 3.

LEHIGH and Lafayette met on the diamond for the third time this year on Wednesday, May 20th, and again our team suffered defeat. The game was played in Easton, and a large crowd, in which there were few Lehigh men, witnessed one of the most exciting matches ever contested between the two teams.

Lafayette played an errorless game, and while Lehigh made but four errors they occurred at critical times, especially Woodcock's in the ninth, which lost the game.

In this inning Rowan was hit by a pitched ball, after Drake had gone out at first, he stole second, Baxter hit to Kiernan and Rowan was caught between bases, but Woodcock interfered with the ball and Rowan got back to second. Both were advanced a base on Holloway's long fly to McClung. Woodcock fumbled Fox's hit and Rowan scored. Belfield had a passed ball and Baxter scored, but Fox was caught at the plate.

For Lehigh, Throckmorton made a home run, but staid on third; he went home on Petrikin's hit unfortunately, for immediately afterward Petrikin was caught stealing second. Then Belfield made a single, stole second and third, but was left there with the tying run as Kiernan flew out to Holloway and Gearheart died at first. For Lafayette, Contrell and Fox played especially well, while Throckmorton, Belfield and Thompson carried off the honors for Lehigh.

LEHIGH, 2; PENNSYLVANIA, 2.

The third of the recent series of close and exciting games was played with the University of Pennsylvania, on the 22nd of May. The playing was excellent throughout, and the teams very evenly matched; when a shower of rain ended the contest in the last half of the fifth, the score was tied, and Lehigh cheated of what seemed a probable victory.

Thompson and Woodcock played well for Lehigh and the battery work was excellent, while the base-running and battery work of Pennsylvania distinguished their play.

This is the score in detail:

LEHIGH, 15; LAFAYETTE, 3.

Lehigh had Lafayette completely at its mercy on the afternoon of May 27. The game was played on the athletic grounds before an enthusiastic audience. From the beginning Lehigh took the lead and kept it. Baxter was pounded for seventeen hits, with a total of twenty-six, Petrikin making three two-baggers and Belfield a home run.

Lehigh went to the bat first. Woodcock flew out to third and McClung bunted a grounder to Baxter and was out at first. Throckmorton reached first on an error by Contrell and came home on Petrikin's double. Fox interfered with the right fielder in trying to catch Belfield's fly. Petrikin came home and then Kiernan retired the side.

Rowan took first on balls. Fox was hit by a pitched ball, but both were forced out at second. Contrell reached first base on a fielder's choice, stole second and was advanced to third. Throckmorton dropped a thrown ball and Contrell came home. Clark went to base on balls, but was caught on third. In the next inning Gearhart made his base on an error by Fox. Thompson hit for two bases, and Gearhart was declared out at home. Downey sacrificed, Woodcock lined out a single and Thompson scored. McClung hit hard to Baxter, but did not reach first. For Lafayette, Contrell hit for one base, but died at third, for though March was on first, the next two men struck out, and while a man was on third March was caught off second.

Hits by Thompson and Downey, a sacrifice by Petrikin and two bases on balls netted four runs for Lehigh. Lafayette did not score in this inning. In the next McClung drove a long fly to the left fielder, who captured it neatly. Throckmorton made a clean hit, Petrikin got out on a fly to short. Kiernan scored a single, but died at first, Gearhart striking out. Lafayette did not get to second during their half.

Lehigh was shut out in the fifth inning, while Lafayette made two runs after two men were out, due to Gearhart's error and Fox's hit. In the sixth, Petrikin sent the ball over the centre-fielder's head, Kiernan made a single and Gearhart hit for two bases, but owing to poor coaching only one man came home, Petrikin being caught between the bases. Neither side scored in the seventh. Heavy batting and a base on balls netted two runs for Lehigh in the eighth and three in the ninth. Sharp fielding kept Lafayette from seeing third base. Thompson played an excellent game at second, accepting twelve chances without an error.

LEHIGH, 7; CORNELL, 5.

By superior batting, Lehigh won a well contested game from Cornell on Friday, May 29. The weather had been wet for the previous two days and the game was played on a muddy diamond, preventing sharp playing by the infield. In consideration of the threatening appearance of the sky, the attendance was good.

Lehigh went first to the bat. Woodcock reached first base on a well placed bunt, and Downey, who ran for him, was put out in trying to reach second. McClung made a two-base hit, and came home on Throckmorton's hit; the latter died at second, and Petrikin flew out to Dowd, retiring the side.

For Cornell, Burrows fouled out to Belfield, Black was given his base on balls, reached second on Belfield's throw, and came home on Field's hit. Field, after getting to first on his hit, went to second, third and home on errors. Taylor struck out and Miller got out at first. In the second and third innings no runs were scored.

In the fourth, McClung reached second on a short hit to center; Throckmorton hit a fly to Rich, which he failed to capture. Petrikin's hit sent McClung home and advanced Throckmorton to third. Belfield got his base on balls, stole second and nearly forced Throckmorton off third; the latter went home on a series of stupid plays and Belfield got safely back to second.

Downey and Woodcock each made a run in the fifth, and Downey and McClung in the ninth, on heavy batting. Cornell also scored twice in this inning.

MORNING GAME.

On the morning of May 30th Lehigh met for the first time the strong team of the Staten Island Athletic Club. The game was closely contested until the fifth inning, when S. I. A. C., by a base on balls and four well placed hits, obtained four runs and a lead that Lehigh was unable to overcome, though playing a steady game. The feature of the game was the excellent team batting of Lehigh. The umpire was very incompetent.

AFTERNOON GAME.

The Staten Island team was strengthened in the afternoon by the presence of Van Zant in the box, and by changes in the outfield and infield. Lehigh played with substantially the same nine, Kiernan going to pitch and Petrikin to right field. The Islanders took kindly to Kiernan and, bunching their hits with Lehigh's errors, had the game well in hand early in the contest. The features were Rooney's catch of a low foul bunt and the fielding of Deppler. The umpire sustained the record of the morning.

LEHIGH, 1; PENNSYLVANIA, 11.

The game on Wednesday was a veritable Waterloo for Lehigh. Pennsylvania won the game in the first four innings and all interest died then. The fielding and battery work of Lehigh were poor and Bowman was not hit effectively. Watts distinguished himself by his batting.

THE BURR PRIZE.

THE prize offered by THE BURR to the best player on the nine has been awarded to Captain Throckmorton, who in the opinion of the committee has put up the best game this year. In making the award, the committee has been guided by the batting and fielding averages, at the same time taking into account the general style of play, that the score book can not show. Woodcock deserves honorable mention for the manner in which he has covered short, this being his first season upon the 'Varsity nine.

The prize, a cane with a silver head, etched with an appropriate design, with suitable lettering, will, if finished in time, be on exhibition in the Library during the latter part of next week. The formal presentation will occur at THE BURR banquet.

LEHIGH, O; N. Y. A. C., 8.

THE last game of the season resulted in the overwhelming defeat of the home team by the twelve from the New York Athletic Club, Wednesday, May 20th. The attendance was very small. The size of the score made the game very uninteresting. Lehigh was weakened in the attack by Semple's absence, and played listlessly with scarcely any team work. What chances there were for scoring were missed by inopportune fumbling. The team appeared to be demoralized and this fact, together with the little college interest aroused by games with athletic clubs, wisely caused the management to cancel all future dates.

The ball was faced at 4.58. The ball soon goes to Lehigh's goal, but the defence gets it away and Gjertsen carries the war into the enemy's territory, but a poor tip to Banks destroys all chance of scoring. After Mosman, while guarding goal, has made a good stop, J. O'Brien tips to Bent, who scores at 5.07.

Witmer makes a good stop and Raymond and Blunt do good defence work, but after much scrimmaging and several wild shots Bush scores at 5.28. In the next ten minutes, Banks makes two shots, but both are wild. The ball goes back and forth until Bent, on a pass, sends it between the posts. In a few minutes the first half is over.

Three minutes after the play resumes, the Lehigh defence having been drawn off, Burns scores on a tip from W. O'Brien. Witmer makes a good stop and Raymond works hard, but the ball is kept around the Lehigh goal and Burns makes the fifth goal at 6.13. In nine minutes W. O'Brien scores again, Lehigh having had one wild shot in the mean time.

At 6.27 the ball rolls between the Lehigh posts in a scrimmage. Banks misses a nice chance to score and just before time is called, W. O'Brien shoots the eighth goal.

The N. Y. A. C. men played a hard game throughout, exhibiting splendid team work; perhaps the best playing on their side was done by Bush and the O'Briens. Witmer in goal did excellently for a new man and in general good play Raymond led.

The teams lined up as follows:

EDITOR'S TABLE.

"LET a man step to the music which he hears." Such is the motto of the Wellesley Prelude, and a more fitting sentiment could not be chosen. With a rustle of skirts and faint odor of delicious perfume, it weekly comes to comfort and enliven the life of one who spends most of his time in clipping stale jokes and dry athletic notes from a host of uninteresting papers. So when I beheld the Prelude this week, the centre of attraction on the editorial table, among a group of admiring college journals, I seized it with pleasure and drank in its soothing words, as I would a novel after an all-night session with Calculus. I read dressmakers' terms by the dozen and—enjoyed them. I read local editorials with interest and laughed long and loud at a clever little story written by a Wellesley Junior. But why did I stop and gasp for breath for one short minute? What was it that seemed to scatter all my fancies to the wind? It was a sentence which clearly showed to me that the Wellesley girl is in league with the female doctor; that possibly she is a woman's right enthusiast; a blue-ribboned, baritone disciple of Belva. Could it be that the Prelude, which seems so fragrant in Bethlehem, was at Wellesley only a W. C. T. U., Y. W. C. A. organ? On finishing the article which I had but begun when these thoughts crowded on me, I decided that she is not a universal suffragist; but if she is, then so am I.

From the Prelude I turn my attention to the Stevens Indicator; rather a sudden change, you say. Well, so it is; but in this publication I find nothing that is not valuable and of scientific interest. The professors at Stevens present, through its columns, a series of most instructive articles on topics which are sure to attract the attention of every student of mechanical engineering. The April number contains an unusual amount of such matter, and I would recommend to all thoughtful students a careful perusal of its contents.

Nothing is more enjoyable in the world than a happy choice in the variety of one's reading; and so I consider myself fortunate in having had the pleasure of reading two such excellent papers as the Prelude and the Indicator; to the one, my warmest feelings go out; to the other, I extend my heartfelt wishes for its continued success.

CLIPPINGS.

A QUESTION.

WITH 'Ninety out of hearing
And 'Ninety-four in view,
We wonder where they'll find a yell
When nineties are run through;
And the class of Nineteen Hundred
Suggests the dismal thought
That Freshmen then may rend the air
With "'Rah for Naughty-naught!"

—Williams Annual.

WHILE DRESSING.

I GO down on my knees,
But it's not to say prayers.
With a volley of D's
I go down on my knees
When my shirt-button flees
Under bureaus and chairs.
I go down on my knees,
But 'tis not to say prayers.

—Brunonian.
